How to Find Articles

You can find articles by using OneVU or you can access one of our many databases geared towards general or specific subjects. A great way to start your research is to go to “Databases A-Z” and choose a general database like “Academic Search Premier”. You can also choose a specialty database, which are sorted by college. You'll find databases for your program under “Science, Engineering & Math Databases” located on our Find Articles page. Below is a search example using Academic Search Premier.

Recommended Databases

Applied Science and Technology Source: Topics include: applied mathematics, chemistry, engineering, geology, information technology, robotics, the food industry, etc.

Associates Programs Source: Provides access to full-text journals and books. Wide range of topics.

Credo Reference: Reference eBooks on topics including: medicine, technology, history, science, and more.

Encyclopedia Britannica Online: Includes Encyclopedia Britannica, Webster's Collegiate Dictionary and Thesaurus, magazines, periodicals, and more.

Gale Virtual Reference Library: Collection of reference books.

ProQuest Research Library: A good starting point for research on any topic. Provides access to journals on a wide range of topics.

PubMed Central: Access to over 1,700 biomedical and life science journals.

Science in Context: Includes periodical articles, dictionaries, detailed experiments, and thousands of biographies, images, and videos. (Indiana Residents Only)

Science Reference Center: Contains full text of science encyclopedias, reference books, periodicals and other reliable sources.
