How to Find Articles

You can find articles by using OneVU or you can access one of our many databases geared towards general or specific subjects. A great way to start your research is to go to “Databases A-Z” and choose a general database like “Academic Search Premier”. You can also choose a specialty database, which are sorted by college. You’ll find databases for your program under “Science, Engineering & Math Databases” located on our Find Articles page. Below is a search example using Academic Search Premier.

Recommended Databases

Academic Search Premier: A great starting point for any type of research.

Applied Science and Technology Source: Full-text journals on topics including: applied mathematics, chemistry, engineering, geology, machinery, information technology, robotics, the food industry and more.

Associates Programs Source: Access to full-text journals and books that cover a wide variety of topics.

Opposing Viewpoints in Context: Access to pro/con essays, topic overviews, periodical articles, statistical tables, charts, and graphs. Also includes images, podcasts, and court case overviews.

ProQuest Research Library: A good starting point on any topic.

Science in Context: Includes periodical articles, dictionaries, detailed experiments, biographies, images, and videos.

Science Reference Center: A research database providing easy access to a wealth of full-text, science-oriented content. Contains full text for hundreds of science encyclopedias, reference books, periodicals and other reliable sources.

SIRS: Online collection of SIRS Researcher, Government Reporter, and Renaissance databases covering a wide variety of viewpoints on topics.
